

Newborn dies due to lack of oxygen in govt ambulance

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

A TRAGIC incident has come to light in Nanjangud where a newborn lost its life due to a lack of oxygen in a government ambulance. The incident occurred at the Mother and Child Hospital in Nanjangud, involving a baby born to Ratnamma and Kumar.

Ratnamma was admitted to the hospital for delivery. Shortly after giving birth, the newborn appeared healthy but suddenly turned blue. The hospital nurses were alarmed by this change, and the parents became extremely anxious about the baby's condition. Seeing the critical situation, hospital staff decided to transfer the baby to a children's hospital in Mysuru for advanced care.

The hospital arranged for the baby to be transported to Mysuru's KR Hospital via a government ambulance. However, despite knowing that the ambulance lacked an oxygen supply, the hospital staff proceeded with the transfer. Unfortunately, the baby succumbed on the way to Mysuru due to the lack of oxygen.

The grieving parents have accused the staff and authorities at the Nanjangud Mother and Child Hospital of negligence, holding them responsible for their child's death.
