

Treating leukaemia without chemo: How a novel PGI therapy is improving survival rate

PGI's Department of Clinical Hematology recently won innovation award too for the treatment

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 26

IN 2003, Pankaj Malhotra, Head, Department of Clinical Hematology, PGIMER, introduced arsenic trioxide (ATO) and all-trans retinoic acid (ATRA) to form the backbone of a treatment of acute promyelocytic leukaemia (APL) without chemotherapy.

Malhotra revealed that patients often arrived at hospitals in critical conditions, and despite treatments, many of them succumbed within 10 days. Additionally, the cost of treatment was so high that most patients cannot afford it.

"Our department too treats around 60,000 patients annually, and to address this challenge, we began treating these patients with this combination as chemotherapy often leads to rapid deterioration in such patients. This was initiated as an experimental therapy, and introducing this therapy was initially difficult. Typically, new treatments originate from foreign countries, and the PGIMER faced significant reservations for pioneering this approach, but we persevered, improving the therapy over time with excellent outcomes," added Malhotra, whose study was honoured in the 'Innovation' category on the PGIMER Research Day.

The study showed that treatment of all risk classes of APL with ATO and ATRA without chemotherapy is associated with excellent long-term outcomes in the real-world setting. It described the experience of treating patients with APL of all risk classes with ATO and ATRA without chemotherapeutic agents. Patients received induction with ATO and ATRA followed by three cycles of consolidation with ATO and ATRA (each 1 month apart) after achieving morphological remission. Patients with intermediate and high-risk disease received a further two years of maintenance. A total of 206 patients were included in the study, and with the use of ATO and ATRA, the outcome for APL has improved dramatically over the last decade and is now among the best long-term survival rates among haematological malignancies.

"This innovative treatment involves administering a combination of arsenic (a type of metal) and ATRA (Vitamin A), and the results have been outstanding. Many women patients treated with this therapy have gone on to lead healthy lives, get married, and have children without complications," added Malhotra.

Over the years, the PGIMER has made several modifications to enhance the effectiveness of the therapy. The success of this innovation has now been recognised at an international level, with its publication in a leading hematology journal. This achievement is not only a milestone for the PGIMER but also for the entire country.

Several major hospitals in India, as well as the US and Australia, have adopted the PGIMER's treatment protocol. The institute provides this therapy free of cost to economically disadvantaged patients, spending approximately Rs 10 to 12 lakh annually on its implementation. To date, 258 patients have received treatment using this method, and many patients can lead normal lives after receiving proper treatment. As the disease progresses gradually, regular blood tests can only detect leukemia in its early stages.

Govt awards Chandigarh for 100-day TB elimination drive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
CHANDIGARH, MARCH 26

CHANDIGARH WAS awarded for its "exemplary performance" during a 100-day intensified campaign — launched in the Union Territory in December 2024 — in view of World TB Day on March 24 this year. Dr Suman Singh, director Health Services, received the award bestowed on Chandigarh by J P Nadda, Union Minister of Health and Family Welfare and Minister of Chemicals and Fertilisers.

During the drive, part of the national initiative, in Chandigarh — which primarily focused on case-finding among vulnerable and high-risk population of the UT — nearly 1.2 lakh people were screened, with X-rays carried out on 20,000 of them. The fresh TB cases, identified during the examination, have been put under treatment.

The Punjab Governor and Chandigarh Administrator, Gulab Chand Kataria, who became a "Nikshay Mitra" under the Pradhan Mantri TB Mukh Bharat Abhiyan of NTEP, agreed to provide nutritional support to the TB patients in the UT.

Dr Deepak Bhasin, senior director (Pulmonology) at Mohali Max Hospital, said that TB, despite being a preventable and curable disease, remains one of the most contagious infections today. "Tuberculosis, an infection that primarily affects the lungs, can be treated with antibiotics, but it gets serious if not treated on time. The symptoms usually develop gradually, and may include a persistent cough lasting more than three weeks — often with mucus (phlegm) or blood, along with fatigue, loss of appetite, weight loss, high fever or night sweats, and general discomfort."

It is crucial to undergo diagnostic tests if TB symptoms are suspected, Dr Bhasin said, adding that these include collection of mucus (phlegm) samples; an X-ray, ultrasound, echocardiogram or CT scan of the chest or body part that may be affected; a biopsy for collection of a sample of tissue, cells or fluid from the affected area.

Speaking about the treatment, Dr Bhasin further said: "The primary TB treatment is to take antibiotics for at least six months. If the disease has spread to the brain, spinal cord or area around the heart, a patient might also require to take steroid medicine for a few weeks. It is crucial not to stop the treatment on your own. A patient should only discontinue medication upon the doctor's advice."

TB remains one of the deadliest infectious diseases globally, but with timely diagnosis and proper treatment, it can be cured and maintained, Dr Bhasin said.

‘Encourage passion, curb drug addiction’: 600 teams to play ‘Gully Cricket’ in Chandigarh

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 26

THE UT Cricket Association (UTCA) and the Chandigarh Police are set to kickstart the third edition of 'Gully Cricket Tournament 2025', starting from April 20 onwards, officials said.

The annual tournament — aimed at encouraging a passion for cricket among the youth of Chandigarh and promoting drug and crime-free society under the 'Nasha Mukh Bharat Abhiyan' — is expected to see the participation of 600 teams comprising over 7,200 cricketers in the 14-19 age group. A national league, the Gully Cricket tournament hosts cricket trials in every state, ensuring that no talent goes unnoticed.

During a press conference in Chandigarh on Wednesday, UTCA president Sanjay Tandon said: "This year, we will conduct the third edition of the Gully Cricket Tournament. The tournament, a unique initiative by the UTCA and the Chandigarh Police, is aimed at tapping talents among the UT youths. Our objective is to provide the youths with a platform to showcase their talents as well as mentor and nurture them — an opportunity for them to play for Chandigarh in BCCI (Board of Control for Cricket in India) tournaments."

In 2024, a total of 3,456 players had registered themselves for the tournament. The UTCA selected 20 of them; with the final match held at the Sector 16 stadium. The registration process this year — being conducted through all the police stations across Chandigarh — will continue until April 7. "The tournament is an integral part of the Nasha Mukh Bharat Abhiyan as envisioned by Prime Minister Narendra Modi," said Tandon.

Chandigarh's inspector general of police IPS R K Singh, senior superintendent of police IPS Kanwardeep Kaur, and senior superintendent of police (City) IPS Geetanjali Khandelwal were also attended the press conference in Chandigarh on Wednesday.

"...Researches have shown that activities such as sports help reduce criminal behaviour and drug abuse, and the Chandigarh Police is proud to be associated with this event," R K Singh said.
